Wallingford Carnival Youth Ambassador 2014

The competition for the 'Carnival Youth Ambassador' was successfully launched at Wallingford School on Saturday. Four local schools were represented, and the event was attended by parents, Head Teachers and Teachers, and members of the Carnival Committee. The Judging panel included Mr Willis (Head Teacher Wallingford School), Councillor Ros Lester (Wallingford Town Council), and Dennis Jackson (Carnival Committee).

Each candidate, aged between 7-11 years on the day of the Carnival, made a presentation on

'Why I love where I live'. Each school was invited to nominate two candidates, a male and female, and were judged on their presentation, personality, conduct and confidence.

It is hoped the elected Carnival Youth Ambassador, and the two Aides, will represent the Youth of the area at other major events as well as Carnival during their year of office.

The standard of each presentation was very high and difficult to judge, but the successful candidates are:-

Carnival Youth Ambassador – Alice Walkey (Wallingford School)

Aides to Ambassador – Sammy Roy and Tegan Farquharson (both St. John's School)

Well done to the winners, but also well done to the other participants – we are so proud of you all. It is obvious you will make fine and upstanding citizens in your communities as you develop and mature. The successful candidates were given gift vouchers, and their first duty will be participation in the Carnival procession on Saturday the 21st June.
